

It is a sad day to read that the comments of the public supporting net neutrality will likely be ignored. keep the regulations for net neutrality in place. And I support making these regulations even stronger. As has been pointed out: "As an agency dedicated to the public interest, the FCC has no choice but to uphold and further develop regulations allowing an open and neutral internet to all parties."